just by looking at them.”

If you don't give your kids the right advice about drugs, they might get the wrong advice from someone else.

Kids hear stuff about drugs all the time. Some of it is true, but a lot of it is exaggerated, muddled or just plain made up.

That's why it's important to know the facts yourself. So you can tell your kids what's fact and what's fiction.

You'll find all the advice and information you need at www.knowthescore.info. Or you can speak to an advisor, free and in confidence, by calling the number below.
